

RUFFIAN GRABS WOMAN'S HANDS ON DARK STREET

"Jack the Hugger" Makes Attack Upon Mrs. William Thompson.

WAS ENROUTE TO HER HOME

Unknown Assailant Follows Lady and Companions From Empire—Runs When Screams Start.

"Jack the Hugger" is getting busy again in the city. Last evening as Mrs. Will Thompson, 1120 Seventeenth street, was going to her home about 11 o'clock, a man suddenly grabbed her. He held her hands tightly for a moment and as the scared woman gave vent to her fright by loud and continued screams, the ruffian took to his heels and disappeared into the shadows.

The incident occurred on Nineteenth street between Ninth and Tenth avenues. Mrs. Thompson and Miss Alice Thompson had been to the Empire theatre. As they left the playhouse they noticed a man walking behind them. He continued to follow them up Nineteenth street and then crossed the street. Walking to the corner, he turned around and came back toward them and suddenly made a lunge at Mrs. Thompson when she was in front of the home of John W. Quinlan, 630 Nineteenth street.

HELD HER HANDS. Putting his arms around her, he caught her hands, but before he could make another move, the screams of the woman became so loud that the assailant in turn became frightened and started for the corner, running as rapidly as he could. The police were notified but as the woman's description was meager, the officers had little to work on and no arrests have been made.

Mrs. Thompson does remember that the fellow was heavy set with a slouch hat pulled down over his eyes and a coat considerably too small for him. The rubber heels on his shoes made it very difficult to hear him. She could not see his face clearly because of the darkness and the way in which his hat shaded his features. The incident created considerable excitement on Nineteenth street and it would not be healthy for any one caught repeating the affair of last evening.

SOPHIE TUCKER IS A WIFE 10 YEARS

Divorce Reveals Actress' Marriage to Man Cruel to Her.

Chicago, Ill., May 28.—Examination of the records of the successful divorce proceedings of S. Belle Tuck vs. Louis Tuck yesterday disclosed several events not hitherto chronicled. One is that Sophie Tucker, former musical comedy star now appearing in cabaret, has been married. The ceremony was performed nearly ten years ago. The second trifle of information is that Sophie has a child. The third is that she is divorced.

A fourth disclosure is a suspicion that Miss Tucker is contemplating another and more successful matrimonial venture. She says she has not lived with Tuck for seven years, and her friends suggested that if the cruelty she alleges has only just struck her with sufficient force to cause the suit, it is possible there are other reasons.

The divorce was granted on March 21 with only one other witness, the plaintiff's brother, O. C. Aubuz, of 66 West Ninth street, New York. He corroborated his sister's story of cruelty and added that his mother always had taken care of the actress' child.

"My husband has been guilty of extreme and repeated cruelty," said the wife. "It started two or three months after we were married. And he never contributed anything to the support of the child, now 8 years old. Why, I had to take the baby away and go to my mother's because of that man's cruelty and the language he used constantly. We have not lived together for seven years."

Miss Tucker asked for the custody of the child. Judge Gibbons inquired whether she could support it.

"I sing in a cabaret show," responded Sophie. "I should say I can." So she was given custody. She blushing declined to speak of future matrimony.

DAVENPORT MAN SHOOTS WIFE AND THEN SUICIDES

Edward Warnken Commits Terrible Crime in Fit of Unreasoning Jealousy.

WOMAN IS STILL LIVING

Couple Had Been Quarreling Previous to Tragedy—Deceased Was a Traveling Salesman.

In a fit of jealous rage, Edward Warnken, aged 40, traveling salesman employed by the Doellinger-Nelson Candy company, Davenport, and residing at 746 Case street in that city, fired two shots into his wife's body and then committed suicide about 11 o'clock last evening at his home. His wife's condition is regarded as extremely critical and word from St. Luke's hospital is to the effect that she may not recover.

HAD BEEN QUARRERING.

Neighbors say that the couple had been sitting on their porch during the evening and had been quarreling. About 11 o'clock they went inside and immediately there were pistol reports in rapid succession. Investigation proved that Mr. Warnken had shot his wife twice, in the right shoulder and through the heart with a 32-calibre weapon. He had then turned the revolver on himself, putting a bullet clear through his forehead. The salesman died instantly but the wounded woman struggled her way to the telephone and called the police.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

She was taken at once to St. Luke's hospital and was unconscious until today. She would make no statement to the police of just what happened. It is known that there had been domestic unrest and dissension for some time between the couple, both of whom had been married before. It is presumed that the husband's jealousy or the attention other men paid to his wife was the primary cause of the tragedy.

TWO ARE BURNED IN MOLINE BLAZE

Harry Holmes and Roy Haley Injured in $15,000 Fire This Morning.

Fire which gained its origin either from a live wire or spontaneous combustion caused a loss estimated at $15,000 at the garage owned by G. F. Huntoon, 1631 Sixth avenue, Moline, about 8:29 o'clock this morning. Harry Holmes and Roy Haley, two employees of the firm, were seriously burned about the head and shoulders.

Both Holmes and Haley were working under a car when the fire started. The blaze originated in the drip pan under the car which was flooded with gasoline and the men are at a loss to know whether the explosion was caused by a live wire or by spontaneous combustion of some rags they were using in their work.

Immediately after the explosion Holmes rushed upstairs to warn his wife, as the couple were living in the rooms over the garage. After he succeeded in rescuing her he jumped into a large and expensive automobile with his clothing still smoking and drove the car from the garage. Among the machines burned were Pope Hartford, a new Peerless roadster and an American roadster. The three cars were reduced to ruins and cannot be repaired. Holmes, who received the worst burns, is 26 years of age, while his companion in the accident is 19. Neither of the men received burns that would cause fatal results.

HORSE KILLED IN DASH ON A BRIDGE

Team Frightened by Steamboat Passing in Mississippi at Muscatine.

Muscatine, Iowa, May 28.—One horse was killed, another badly injured, while the driver, George Foster, of Foster, Ill., narrowly escaped death in a runaway on the high bridge at about 8 o'clock Monday evening.

Foster, who is proprietor of a grocery store, was driving a heavy team loaded with supplies for his place of business. He had traversed but a short distance of the bridge, when a steamboat, passing underneath, frightened the animals. They entered upon a mad dash across the structure, culminating when the horses swerved to one side and crashed into the iron work.

One of the animals met instant death. Foster was hurled headlong over the horses, escaping serious injury by alighting on his feet. He then was compelled to walk to the city in order to secure another pair of horses.
